Art Trope Gallery is delighted to present the works of three of its artists from the 8th to the 19th of June, with three scenographies which allow to underline the evolutions, dynamics and observations carried out by the artists.

Antoine Buttafoghi's photographic work, a 22-piece series dealing with "Solitude(s)" will be exhibited. Throughout this series, the artist seeks to explore the multiple benefits of this state of self: initiatory experience, inner journey or lucid quest. His photographs help us understand how loneliness brings about evolution in Man's journey towards understanding himself and grasping the world surrounding him.

The sculptor Gilles Durfort highlights through 8 sculptures the very essence of our moments of life: being able to touch reality, observe and understand it, without anecdote or detail. In a perpetual search of tropism, this intense but unexplained moment, the artist makes us reflect on our own sensations.

The 20 exhibited works of Éric Dabancourt invite us to observe his universe, transcribed into his drawings. His lines are unpredictable, natural and demonstrate all the living force of his works: they evolve in their sensuality and reflect the multiplicity of a drawing and its ability to create dialogue between different worlds. It is this spectacle of bonds emerging before our eyes, that the drawer emphasizes through his art.
